

U.S. Army Contracting Command

John M. Lyle

Deputy to the Commanding General

Mr. John M. Lyle is the Deputy to the Commanding General, U.S. Army Contracting Command, Redstone Arsenal, AL. He is the Commanding General's principal civilian authority and proponent on mission management functions, operations and activities. He assumed the position May 15, 2016.

Mr. Lyle is a retired U.S. Air Force officer, retiring in the rank of colonel in 2006. While on active duty he served in a variety of contracting and acquisition management and leadership positions at all levels of the Air Force. His first assignment as a federal civil service employee was Deputy Director of Procurement, U.S. Special Operations Command, MacDill Air Force Base, FL, followed by an assignment as the Director of Contracting, Electronic Systems Center, Hanscom Air Force Base, MA. He was appointed to the Senior Executive Service in 2011.

Prior to joining ACC he was Associate Deputy Assistant Secretary (Contracting), Secretary of the Air Force, the Pentagon. He was also the Director of Contracting, Air Force Rapid Capabilities Office and Air Force Special Access Programs Contracting at Joint Base Anacostia-Bolling, Washington, DC.

Mr. Lyle's major awards and decorations include the Meritorious Civilian Service Award, Legion of Merit with one oak leaf cluster, Defense Meritorious Service Medal, Air Force Meritorious Service Medal with three oak leaf clusters, Air Force Commendation with one oak leaf cluster, Air Force Achievement Medal with one oak leaf cluster, Aeronautical Systems Center Directorate of Contracting Bruce Woodhouse Boss of the Year Award, Miami Valley Federal Women's Program Supervisor of the Year (runner-up), Air Force Materiel Command Systems Field Grade Contracting Officer of the Year, Aeronautical Systems Center Air Force Association Executive Manager of the Year, David Packard Excellence in Acquisition Award and Air Force Systems Command Operational Contracting Officer of the Year.

He has a bachelor's degree in business management from Eastern Nazarene College, Quincy, MA; a master's degree in business management from Central Michigan University, Grand Forks Air Force Base, ND; and a master's in strategic studies from the Air War College, Air University, Maxwell Air Force Base, AL. He is a graduate of the Program Managers Course, Defense Systems Management College, Fort Belvoir, VA. His professional certifications include Contracting, Level III, Acquisition Professional Development Program and Program Management, Level III, APDP.

ACC, a subordinate command of U.S. Army Materiel Command, is comprised of two subordinate commands—the U.S. Army Mission and Installation Contracting Command and the U.S. Army Expeditionary Contracting Command—and six major contracting centers. ACC supports Army readiness by providing global contracting support to warfighters engaged in military operations, weapon system acquisition, life cycle management and sustainment and acquisition of goods and services vital to the Soldier's mission and well-being. ACC's workforce consists of more than 6,000 Soldiers and Army civilian employees at more than 100 locations worldwide. In fiscal year 2015, ACC awarded and managed more than 173,000 contract actions valued at more than $54.7 billion.