

ARMY CONTRACTING COMMAND ORLANDO

The contracting support services provided by ACC-Orlando are crucial to Army readiness. They provide Warfighters with the latest live, virtual, constructive and gaming training solutions, and test and training instrumentation on time and at the best value for the government.

Headquartered in Orlando, Florida, Army Contracting Command (ACC)-Orlando is a multi-billion dollar Training Contracting Center of Excellence that focuses on providing the full range of contracting products in direct support of a diverse customer base, with a focus on the Warfighter.

ACC-Orlando's vision is to be recognized by their stakeholders as the foremost contracting solutions center enabled by a world class workforce. Their mission remains to provide sound business advice and tailored contracting solutions to acquire products and services in support of the Warfighter and their stakeholders.

ACC-Orlando is comprised of four Contracting Divisions, a COVID-19 Support Branch and a supporting Staff consisting of Policy, Source Selection, Cost/Price, Contract Closeout, Systems, Business Operations, Personnel Resources, Contracting Operations, Property Accountability/Quality Assurance and Strategic Integration.

ACC-Orlando provides contracting solutions through a dedicated workforce comprised of civil servant employees and military personnel and is an integral member of Team Orlando, which consists of military, industry and academia working together in the world of training and simulation to provide solutions that ensure Army readiness and modernization.

ACC-Orlando, on average, awards over 2,500 contract actions and obligates over $2.3 billion annually. Approximately 21 percent of the organization's annual contract obligations are awarded to small business firms.

As the Training Contracting Center of Excellence, ACC-Orlando procures a wide range of training and testing products and services to include non-system and system training devices, simulations and simulators; operations, maintenance and service support for test range instrumentation, ground and aerial targets, and threat systems for the Army, other DOD components and allied foreign nations. The contracting support services provided by ACC-Orlando are crucial for outfitting Warfighters with the latest live, virtual, constructive and gaming solutions and cutting edge test instrumentation, targets and services.

Known for their communication with industry initiatives, ACC-Orlando hosts monthly Procurement Administrative Lead Time (PALT) Update Sessions that bring together the contracting community, requiring activities, and industry partners in a transparent, interactive communication exchange. Additional information regarding this ACC-Orlando best practice is available on the beta.SAM.gov website (search Contract Opportunities module using "PALT" as the keyword) and via the "PALT Update Session Info" section of the ACC-Orlando public website.
